National Association for the Education of Young Children

It's time to celebrate young children and those who take care of them. The National Association for the Education of Young Children (NAEYC) designates a week in April as Week of the Young Child. NAEYC is a nonprofit association that represents early childhood educators, families of young children, policy makers and advocates. Established in 1970, this week recognizes the importance of the early childhood years (birth to age 8) in building a foundation for children’s later success. Week of the Young Child highlights the needs of young children and their families as well as acknowledging programs and services that meet those needs. Each year NAEYC sets the week and themes for Week of the Young Child. Early childhood programs and community agencies/organizations can design and adapt the celebration to meet their needs. Over the past thirty years we have come to recognize the importance of a child’s learning and development in the early years. As early childhood professionals we are tasked with creating environments that promote their learning and development. This week allows us to shine a light on experiences, opportunities and the commitment we have to children and families in our communities.

Tasty Tuesday
Today is about more than eating delicious food. It is about building skills through cooking activities and promoting healthy habits and nutrition.

Work Together Wednesday
For this day create ways for children to build things or work together on projects. Look for fun ways to inspire teamwork!

Artsy Thursday
Get creative! Plan open-ended art activities. Provide a variety of child safe materials that let children design original creations by making choices and using their imagination.

Family Friday
Recognize families as children’s first teachers. Invite families in to participate in learning activities.

For more resources for Week of the Young Child, whether for the classroom or families, visit <https://www.naeyc.org/events/woyc/plan-your-event>.

Thank you for all that you do to enrich the lives of children and families in our community.

According to NAEYC, this year’s Week of the Young Child is April 11th - 17th.

The year’s celebrations include:

Music Monday
Encourage children to get up and move! Singing and dancing are great ways to be active while promoting gross motor skills, language and emotional development plus so much more.

Resource Library - Dothan

The Dothan Resource Library has a variety of resources available to local child care providers. Everyone is invited to come by from 8:00 AM to 4:30 PM and browse our collections. The library blasted into 2020 with a rocket and space theme loaded with fun and exciting books, die cuts, fingerplays and ideas to inspire. We even have our own rocket ship and moon rocks! You should see our astronauts floating among the planets!

New to hit the shelves is an exciting series of board books titled "World Snacks Books" authored by Amy Wilson Sanger. This series highlights food of 7 varying ethnicities. The books use the cultural terminology to describe the different foods. They are titled: First Book of Sushi, Let's Nosh!, Hola! Jalapeno!, Yum, Yum, Dim Sum, A Little Bit of Soul Food, Mangia! Mangia!, and Chaat and Sweets. Together with our various ethnic food kits, they make a wonderful tour of food around the world!

We also have new Dr. Seuss books and kits recently added to our collection. New die cut patterns include a camping collection, toddler friendly zoo animals, and a space collection. A complete listing of available die cuts can be picked up in the library as well as a monthly newsletter filled with ideas, activities, and featured resources related to the highlighted theme/holiday each month.

So, come by and look around. We are sure you will find something to enrich the quality care you provide in the Family Guidance Center-Dothan area counties served. Be sure to let us know if we can help in any way. Contact Michelle Woodham at 334.712.7777, Ext 224.

Activities

Infant Activity - Beautiful Bouquet

Materials: assortment of silk flowers, colander with holes that fit stems of flowers.

Cut flowers into single stems and make sure to bend and tape the ends so there are no sharp edges. Encourage infants to explore the flowers with their senses. Then, allow them to create bouquets by putting flowers through the holes in the colander to enhance motor skill development and coordination.

Toddler Activity - Bottle Stamped Bouquet

Materials: 2 liter plastic soda bottle, large pieces of paper, paint

Lead children in dipping the bottom of the bottle into the paint and pressing it onto the paper creating a flower pattern. Use Spring colors and allow blending of color to create a bouquet on a page!

Preschool Activity - Red Rose Bouquet

Materials: one celery bunch with root base, paints, brush, paper

Group the stalks at the top and bottom with rubber bands or string. Cut off the base. Instruct the children to dip the end into the paint and stamp the design on the paper to resemble roses. Allow them to complete the bouquet by adding green stems with paint and a paintbrush.

Schoolage Activity - Kandinsky Circle Flower Bouquet

Materials: construction paper in rainbow colors, white card stock, scissors, glue

First, have children place their paper in rainbow order. Second, instruct them to cut a small circle from the first color. Explain that they will make the next color circle a little bigger than the first and continue for all the colors getting larger each time. Third, using scissors, children will cut slits around each circle for petals. Fourth, have them glue the circles together to form a flower shape layering the circles smallest to largest on the bottom. Last, they will add the green stem shape and glue the flowers to white card stock.

Infant Quality Tip

Research has shown that babies like to be imitated. We tend to imitate behavior back to babies in an exaggerated way, which is exactly what babies need, it helps them learn about their own emotional experiences. Seeing it reflected back helps them gain understanding of the environment and emotions around them.

Day for Directors Recap

On Saturday, January 25, 2020 Family Guidance Center's Child Care Education and Training Program in Montgomery held their annual Directors Conference. We had 52 child care directors, assistant directors and owners attend the conference. The topic for the conference was Management 2020: Handbooks, Marketing, and Financial Growth. We had very positive comments from the participants.

Toddler Quality Tip

According to the American Academy of Pediatrics, "Screen Time" should be "held off" until age two. (TV, computer, phones)

Their rationale:
TV is not educational - A live person demonstrating a concept is always better.

TV is distracting - A toddler benefits more from actively playing, than inactively staring at a screen.

TV is linked with slower language acquisition because TV time tends to displace conversation time between babies and adults.

Update for Directors

Every other month, the FGC Training Program offers a thirty-minute teleconference for Directors. One hour credit is given. This is a convenient way to gain insight and to connect with other Directors in your area. Without leaving your center, you can learn about new trends in child care and engage in discussion about ways to improve your center and staff dynamics. This quarter a director teleconference will be held on:

Wednesday, May 6th from 12:00 pm - 12:30 pm:

Your Program's Reputation Depends on Staff Engagement

Please see the Dothan or Montgomery training calendar for more information on the director's teleconferences.
